Poetry.

"GOD DEFEND THE RIGHT."

[We see it announced that General Charles G. Halpine—officially known as City Register, politically as the Democratic Union Party, and poetically as Miles O'Rielly—has been appointed to present the claims of Mr. Chase to the Democratic Convention. Gen. Halpine will introduce his speech by singing the following verses from one of his best known lyrics. We fancy the sensation the strains of his manly and spirited tenor voice will create as he warbles the following:—TRIBUNE.]

Come fill your glasses, fellows,
And stand up in a row,
On a Presidential drinking
We are going for to go;
Let us have no more discussion here—
At least no more to-night—
While for President Ulysses Grant
We take our foremost flight!
O, for President Ulysses
Let every glass be bright—
May he rule the country he has saved,
And God defend the right.

In the world to-day no prouder name
Is borne on any breeze,
And with Grant to steer the ship of State,
Our flag shall rule the seas;
No "Dominion" shall be north of us,
And South of us no foe—
Our Stars and Stripes in the Canadas,
And likewise Mexico!
For with President Ulysses
Will be few who care to fight—
May he rule the country he has saved,
And God defend the right!

So, boys! a final bumper,
While we all in chorus chant—
"For next President we nominate
Our own Ulysses Grant!"
And if asked what State he hails from,
This our sole reply shall be,
"From near Appomattox Court House,
With its famous apple tree!"
For 'twas here to our Ulysses
That Lee gave up the fight—
Now, boys, "To Grant for President,
And God defend the right!"

THE COMING CONVENTION.

The great question in politics now is, what will be done on the 4th of July at the Democratic Convention in New York? We are "not a prophet, nor the son of a prophet," but as "coming events cast their shadows before," we may predict the course of that body, and let time tell how near we are right.

The first struggle in the Convention will be on the "two-thirds rule." This, adopted we think in '44, requires a majority of two-thirds in the Convention to nominate a candidate for President. The Pendleton men will undoubtedly move the suspension of this rule, thereby making a majority sufficient for nomination. The subject has already been broached in the Times. The opponents of Pendleton will as firmly oppose its suspension, and having Democratic usages on their side, it will be hard work to carry it. The Democracy is notably opposed to any change or reform. We may predict then, that the two-thirds rule will continue in force.

The next struggle will likely be on the platform, that is, if it is taken up before the candidates, as was the case in our own Convention. Here there is bound to be a mighty conflict, and one that may rend their party into two factions! Negro suffrage must come before them. The inevitable ghost of Cuffy will rise up and at them, and will not "down" at their bidding. The World has already declared for manhood suffrage, arguing that the negro vote—an important element in the next contest—can be carried only on that platform. But the old "unterrified" war horses of the Pomeroy kind will rise up in their might to utter their everlasting protest against making the black the equal of the white—or else they will shut their eyes and swallow it down with a gulp and a gag. But seriously, taking all things into consideration, it is not rashness to predict that negro suffrage will be a plank in their platform. It must come, and the sooner over the better. But oh! what a change will that be!

Then, on the Bond question. The Democracy are not united on this. The Pendleton and the Seymour factions will come into contact here, and it remains to be seen if money or ignorance will rule that body of enlightened (?) men. We say that money will win, and therefore that the platform will not be anti-bond. The very fact that the Convention meets in the headquarters of the bond-holders argues in favor of this. It will be strange if Belmont, Seymour and their fellows will not triumph over the West. But the "greenback" men will die hard, and their apostle, Pomeroy, has declared he will support no bond-holder. In this, as in all their questions, policy, not principle, will be their guiding motive. They must give the lie to their Chicago platform of '64. The war has NOT proved a failure, and they will be forced to admit it—at least so far as subduing the rebellion is concerned. This will be a bitter pill on them. And what their declaration in regard to the war will be we cannot tell, nor do we care to predict.

The platform arranged, the next fight will be on the candidate. Pendleton, Chase, Hancock, Seymour are in the field with their backers. If, as we have said, the two-thirds rule is set aside, Pendleton will be nominated on the first ballot. If it continue in force, he cannot be nominated at all, as those who are opposed to him will never yield to him. Then, however formidable the movement may seem now, Chase cannot be the candidate. That would be too much of a desertion of principle to command any respect from the world. Chase can win no Republican votes, and cannot gain all the Democrat votes. Hancock will be quietly laid on the shelf after the first ballot. Seymour will likely not be voted for at first, but what may be done afterwards, no one can guess. Perhaps some great "unknown" will be seized upon to enter the course against our Captain, Grant. It is thought now that the outside pressure will control the nomination. Certainly the Five Pointers will be there in force. It is also feared by the Pendleton men that the delegates will be bought, that money will nominate the man as well as the platform. We shall see what we shall see.

Let us contrast our Convention with theirs. Ours was all unity and harmony; theirs will all be disunion and discord. In ours there was not a dissenting voice on any measure; in theirs measures will be carried amid storms of opposition. Ours was animated with the wildest enthusiasm; theirs will be a fiery, contending body, void of genuine enthusiasm. The whole party re-echoed the action of our convention; their action will be received with curses and disappointment. Is any one incredulous as to the result in November? Can a house divided against itself stand? Can a party torn with factions and rebellion prevail against one united on every subject?

5000 FREEDMEN TO FIGHT FOR IRISH LIBERTY.

Irishmen, as a class are inveterate haters of the "nagur." But few are lovers of Briton's sons. The two elements, African and Irish, have a common dislike for the English. The former remember with bitter feelings the arms of English make furnished to their masters, the clothing and munitions of war. Sympathizing with those who are persecuted for the "wearing of the green" they again offered to fight in the struggle which "once begun is baffled oft, yet ever won." In proof of this we submit the following extract from the proceedings of the Sixth Fenian Congress assembled at Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 1867:

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 3, 1867.

To Col. W. R. Roberts, President, F. B.:

Five thousand colored men of this city have offered to fight for Irish freedom. WM. CLEARY, M. D.

On motion received.

On motion the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That if there are five thousand colored men in New Orleans willing to fight for Irish liberty the offer be accepted, and that in the name of the Irish people the Fenian Brotherhood accept the services of every man who truly loves liberty and is willing to fight for Ireland, without distinction of race, color or nationality.

In this instance Erin's sons place themselves in equality with the negro. Why is this thus, and who can account for it?

OUT OF THEIR OWN MOUTHS THEY ARE CONDEMNED.

When Geo. V. Lawrence said (or was reported to have said) something about the still-houses and schools in Greene county, the whole copperhead crew raised a fiendish yell of indignation. All their filth, accumulated for years, was thrown at him. The pious and educated Democrats branded him "liar." A prominent Democrat of this place, in describing their nominee for Assembly, said, "If we had many such men as he in our county, we would have more STILL-HOUSES, and fewer SCHOOLS and CHURCHES." There, swallow that, ye pious hypocrites. Is not this the man you have chosen to represent you in the Assembly? Is he not a fair and honest representative, more so than any of the other candidates? If you are consistent, take back your filth from Lawrence, and cast it on Sedgewick.

HENRY A. WISE and the Chief Justice visited the African Church in Richmond together on Sunday, and heard divine service.

PROPHECY FULFILLED.

"If the infernal fanatics and abolitionists ever get power in their hands, they will override the Constitution, set the Supreme Court at defiance, change and make laws to suit themselves, lay violent hands on those who differ with them in their opinions, or dare question their infallibility, and finally bankrupt the country and deluge it with blood."—Daniel Webster, March 7th, 1850.

We clip the above from the last Waynesburg Messenger. It goes the rounds of the Democratic papers every few months. No such utterance is to be found in Mr. Webster's 7th of March speech or any other that he ever made. The pretended extract is a bald forgery, and has been branded as such fifty times, but still the Copperhead journals continue to publish it as genuine.—Washington Reporter.

Don't make any difference, it suits them just as well. "Wounded error" in her last throes.

THE NATION AT VENGUE.

We trust that the campaign for the Presidency is not to degenerate into a strife to see which party shall take most benefit from the narrow prejudices and penuriousness of the American people. It is too late to sell the republic to the lowest bidders—the last purchase having been made with millions of money and seas of blood. This republic can never sell for less than the cost of its last purchase; and we commend this proposition to those vain and noisy politicians who lately talk so much about appealing from the ballot to the bullet. No party ever sacrificed a fundamental principle and lived to win a victory. No party in the field to-day can hope to succeed by any such sacrifice. The Republican party began its life with the demand that this generation should act in good faith toward succeeding generations. It demanded that no man should be privileged to carry local laws wherever he migrated; or inflict a system of compulsory labor without compensation upon virgin territories. Its birthcry was a demand for universal freedom and equal and exact justice. When it weakly recedes from that invulnerable position, and trades off its principles for temporizing policy, its days will be numbered, and of the whole number of honorable men in its ranks, few will appear as mourners.

We see it stated that the popular vote will be with the party which proposes to make the public burden lightest. If that be true, repudiation of every dollar of the public debt, State and National, is the key to success. But unless the American people be thoroughly demoralized and emasculated, the party which would invite success by such a proposition would be thrice damned. We do not choose to measure the people by such a base standard. If they deserve it, they ascended the height of folly when they gave their lives and treasure to rescue the nation from the toils of treason. The fact that they elected to incur the debt rather than suffer the triumph of the Southern armies, ought to exempt them from so mean a suspicion. The people have a right to demand retrenchment, now that the necessity for extraordinary expenditures has passed away. And as an earnest of this determination on the part of the Republican party, we have the action of Congress upon the estimates submitted by the heads of departments, cutting down the appropriations many millions below where the Administration desired them to be placed. The burden of taxation must be heavy enough to pay the interest on the public debt and pay the current expenses of government. Heavier than that they must not be, and heavier than that, in our opinion, they will not be during the year 1868, and thereafter.

We hope the Republican party will stand firmly by its demand for the full and complete performance of the contracts between the Government and its creditors. It must insist on the redemption of every dollar of the funded debt, at some time in future, in the money of the world. And if the American people cannot abide by that high toned business honor, let them take the infamy which must attach to such bad faith. That the people, as a body, do not propose repudiation as a remedy for the evils to which we are temporarily subjected, is clear enough to any man who takes the pains to inquire; for the majority of men regard the payment of just debts as a religious duty. The debt of the nation, in chief part, was incurred for the common good and in the common defense. It is a lien upon all the real and personal estate of the Republic. Every citizen is morally, as well as legally, bound to assist in lifting the debt as it matures. The only escape from this is in bankruptcy, and bankruptcy in a nation is ruin to every citizen. There are some men so blind as to imagine that they could live and prosper though political ruin were utter. But the more intelligent citizen understands that repudiation by a government of a debt owed to its citizens is repudiation of every debt between citizens. To this point the popular mind must be trained assiduously. Come what may come, the credit of this nation must not suffer by the action of the great party which has just conducted it through a great and exacting war for life.

We must afford to do just right; we must insist on good faith to every citizen in law and in finance; we must inaugurate retrenchment and reform. All these things belong to the work which the Republican party was organized to do. If the Democratic leaders will bid for the patronage of ignorance, vice and prejudice, let them be without competitors. No power can be stable which roots in the weaknesses of human nature. Give to that base party the vote of every swindling repudiator, and every illicit distiller, in the land, and if the votes of the virtuous and law-abiding shall not suffice to overcome them, then let us go down. But the votes of the virtuous and law-abiding will always suffice to keep in check the unmanly ambitions of the leaders of the Copperhead party. The work is in getting the people to arouse and enter into the fight with spirit.

So we declare for absolute good faith toward the nation's creditors; for a funding of the present evidences of debt in bonds bearing a lesser rate of interest and payable at long dates; against unnecessary inflation of the currency, as well as against a violent, compulsory, contraction of the same; for the relief of the necessaries of life from taxation, and for retrenchment in all places where it can be accomplished without detriment to the common good. The Republican party can succeed in a campaign made upon such issues; but it cannot—it ought not to succeed, upon any issues involving the sacrifice of a solitary principle.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE.

Under this general head we find the following in different Democratic newspapers:

"Resolved, That we are opposed both in principle and in policy, to negro suffrage."—Ohio Democratic Resolutions, 1868.

"Resolved, That under the action of the State of South Carolina, heretofore taken, we recognize the colored population of the State as an intelligent element of the body politics; and as such, in person and property, entitled to full and equal protection under the State Constitution and laws. And that, as citizens of South Carolina, we declare our willingness, when we have the power to grant them, with proper qualifications as to property and intelligence, the right of suffrage."—South Carolina Democratic Resolutions, 1868.

"A very large torchlight procession of Democratic Niggers are marching through the streets while I write. I have addressed an immense audience in the Court House Square—the largest proportion being negroes. They carried transparencies with most appropriate Democratic mottoes. Proclaim it throughout Upper Georgia that everything is safe—honor safe, peace secured, Democracy triumphant." Letter of D. C. Hill, a leading Democrat in Georgia, April 11, 1868.

"We have a word for our colored citizens who are anxious to vote for Governor at the ensuing election. Your professed friends have nominated a man of the name of Bullock for that office, and it is right that you should know beforehand what sort of a man he is who solicits your suffrages."—Savannah News, (Democratic,) April, 1868.

"You pays your money and you takes your choice."

WHAT WE MEAN BY ORGANIZATION.

1. To furnish information, through periodicals and pamphlets, to all who will read;

2. To obtain a complete list of the Legal Voters in each Election District;

3. To provide efficiently and seasonably against the polling of Illegal Votes.

Each of these ends is important; but the first is the most urgent and the last most indispensable. No one ever heard of a Democrat who was heartily desirous that Illegal Voting should be prosecuted or punished.

Every copperhead organ is now claiming Pennsylvania, on the strength of her last October contest, when Judge Sharswood was elected by a few votes, put through by means of Naturalization papers forged for the purpose. The County of Luzerne has notoriously been a focus of these frauds for years. See how her poll has been swelled by them:

	Republican.	Democrat
1860.—Lincoln	7,360	Fusion	6,803
1862.—Cochran	5,768	Slenker	8,389
1863.—Curtin	7,022	Woodward	9,808
1864.—Lincoln	7,645	McClellan	10,015
1865.—Hartranft	6,196	Davis	6,916
1866.—Geary	8,733	Clymer	12,387
1867.—Williams	7,985	Sharswood	10,404

—These monstrous majorities for McClellan, Clymer, and Sharswood, were fabricated by means of forged Naturalization papers, stained with coffee to divest them of their natural rawness of appearance, and otherwise fixed up so that aliens could vote on them without fear, and Democratic election judges would take them without hesitation. Such are the means whereby Grant is to be swindled out of the Presidency, if audacious, unscrupulous villainy shall prove equal to the emergency,

Republicans! we must be so organized that fraudulent Naturalization papers shall nowhere pass unchallenged, and fraudulent votes be nowhere polled. To this end, we must organize in each Election District, BEGINNING NOW.

Should the Democratic Party be Entrusted with Political Power?

We answer no, for the reason that a party destitute of moral principle is entitled to no confidence. That the Democratic party as a party, is without moral honesty, must be obvious to the most careless observer.

Let a few facts be submitted in proof of this proposition. The Democrats inaugurated the slaveholder's rebellion, by the commission of perjury and treason. Every leader in the rebellion was a Democrat. The first gun trained on our flag at Sumpter was sighted and fired by Democrats. Our soldiers on their way to the defense of the Capital of the nation were shot down by Democrats in the streets of Baltimore, and forbidden passage across Democratic soil. When the Chief Magistrate of the nation called for men to defend its life, the Democratic party opposed the call, and sought every possible way to defeat it. When a draft was ordered, the Democrats mobbed the officers of the law to prevent it. The Democratic party in the Democratic city of New York shot down, like dogs, the Government officials who were there only to discharge the obligations of their office.

The Democrats of the Democratic city of New York murdered defenseless colored women and children for no offense, save that they loved and honored the flag of their country. Democrats are to-day burning down colored school houses, that colored children may be prevented from learning to read and write.

Democrats in all the unreconstructed States are murdering Union men, where any Union man dare avow his Union sentiments by openly proclaiming his love of country.

Democrats are now openly threatening to assassinate any Radical President that the people of this country may choose to elect to that high office.

When Democratic Buchanan surrendered the Government into the hands of a Republican President, he surrendered it robbed of its last dollar by Democrats. When our Republican President came into possession of the surrendered office, he found the army and navy scattered to the four corners of the earth by Democrats, that Democrats might rob and plunder, unmolested, the arsenals of the nation.

A Democratic mayor, in the Democratic city of New York, lamented that he could not surrender to his fellow-Democrats of the South, who had there purchased arms and amunition with which to shoot down Northern freemen and prey on Northern commerce, because, as he informed his Southern Democrats, they had been seized by a loyal Governor, affirming that if it lay in his power they should at once be delivered for the use and purposes for which they had been purchased. There is no depth in political degradation to which the Democratic party will not descend to secure political ascendency and power. Murder, arsen, treason, are mere playthings in the hands of the Democratic party, in this their last desperate game for office. —The Chromotype.

JUDGE YE.

The Republican party stands before the country again in 1868 just as it did in 1864, simply upon its record. It asks to be judged by what it has done, and relies upon no uncertain promises of the future. In 1860 it advanced no new principle. It took its stand upon its well known advocacy of unceasing hostility to slavery in the territories, and the people approved of it and elected the Republican candidate to the Presidency. The slave power chose to stake its existence upon the defeat of the principle of freedom in the territories, and it lost the stake—slavery was obliterated. This was the page of events to which the Republican party pointed in 1864. Again the people indorsed it. The reactionists, unable to maintain slavery, but regretting to part with it, attempted to establish caste in its place, and the struggle thereon has lasted until the present time, but is now closing upon a record of the republican party, in which is inclined the full establishment of the civil and political rights of the oppressed race, and the reconstruction of the south upon a free basis.

In this contest many other things have been settled. The Presidential power has been restricted, Congressional authority vindicated, and the Supreme Court restrained within bounds; the banking system reorganized on a sound basis, the currency made national and reliable, popular liberties protected at the south, the supreme authority and power of the the Republic itself forever fortified against assaults from the spirit of sectionalism, the State governments purged of oligarchy, and the foundations laid for a system of small landholdings at the south. Thus the Republican party intrenches itself for the ensuing campaign, and acts upon the defensive, as it did in each former case. It asks to be trusted on account of what it has done. It has made the nation greater and more respected by the civilized world. It has built up domestic manufactures on an immense scale by means of a protective policy. It has introduced at the south free common school education. It has built the greater part of the Pacific Railroad, brought in four new States, brought everything back to a peace footing, and has steadily reduced taxation at all points. If, then, we are asked why the National Conention did not declare in favor of this thing or that, we answer that the party has hitherto made its claim for support always upon the ground of what it has accomplished or essayed, and asked to be judged by the spirit of that. There is very much yet to do, and the Republican party is the only one competent for the work.—North American.

GRANT AND WASHBURNE.—THEIR PERSONAL RELATIONS.

George Alfred Townsend in his last letter to the Cleveland Leader narrates the following:

When the war began, Washburne stirred himself to raise a company in Galena, and as it was known to a few that Grant had been a captain in the army, he was looked to as the proper man to be chairman. Mr. Washburne described to me this hard-working, commonly-dressed man, with an old faded dragoon cloak upon his shoulders, mounting to the bench of the Court House and stating the object of the meeting.

When the company was raised Grant was found to be perfect in all the details of equipping it from boots to buttons. Washburne, Grant and the rest took the company down to Springfield. There, with scanty means, paying three dollars a day for board, Grant waited the disorganized process of the state authorities, with Dick Yates, impracticable as now, at the head of the State.

Finally Grant said to Washburne: "I can do nothing here; I am running short; I shall go home and go to work." "Hold on!" said Washburne. At last Grant was placed in the Adjutant General's Department, and by happy luck was one day placed at the head of a regiment afflicted with a drunken Colonel. So began his fame.

The celebrated despatch, "I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer" was brought, from Spottsylvania to Washington in Mr. Washburne's pocket. He said to Grant as he quitted the field: "General, have you any message to send up to the War Department?" "I guess not," said Grant. "I think it would be well," returned Washburne, "if you sent some little word up to the people." "Very well."

General Grant sat down in the tent, and as quickly as he could transcribe, and without reading the message over, gave it to Washburne, sealed. The latter came to Belle Plain, took a boat, landed at the Navy Yard, rode in a horse car to the War Department, where he found everybody blue and doubtful, and delivered the letter to Stanton. That simple bulletin thrilled the country and went into our epigrammatic literature.

PITTSBURGH.

A western editor thus describes the effect produced by the numerous foundries, iron works, &c., at Pittsburgh. It is only slightly exaggerated:

"Pittsburgh people never have fresh air, except when out of town. They live on coal smoke and floating cinders. We inhaled seven tons of smoke the first hour we were there. The people breathe smoke, eat smoke, chew smoke, and carry it loose in their pockets. It is now seventy-two years since Pittsburgh has been warmed or reached by the sun's rays. Once a streak of sunshine, for several years condensing, undertook to penetrate the cloud of smoke over the city, got lost, became smoked, and fell like a standing edition of the 'Black Crook.' The ladies use smoke and coal dust to protect their complexion. Little boys and girls stand on the corners with wet brooms and sponges to wash people's faces, for five cents. Everybody is of a color in Pittsburgh. At the post office window the clerk distinguishes people by certain signs, it being impossible to see their faces from the layers of coal dust and smoke. We saw a little boy crying on the street because he had lost his father, who was six feet ahead of him in all the blackness.

Every one wears mourning in Pittsburgh. A barber once went there to color whiskers. He mor'n busted in a week. Men kiss each other's wives in Pittsburgh, unable to tell which is their own only by the taste.

Women send their children on errands first writing on their faces with a thumb nail or wet sticks. People feel their way by door knobs, and read by raised type.

A man once stood in his room with the window raised—changed his shirt nine times in four minutes, and only got a clean one on him when the window fell by accident, and kept the smoke out.

Meet a man with a cold who has been blowing his nose, and that organ looks like a burnt stump on each side of which a woodchuck has been burrowing.

Bed clothes are unknown in Pittsburgh. Leave the window open and sheets of smoke settle upon you like newspapers from a machine press! Some years since some snow fell into the city from the cloud of smoke—the smoke was not hurt, but the snow looked sick. Men carry lanterns to see to shake hands. When looking at a watch to see the hour it is the fashion to light a match. They make black broadcloth by hanging a spider's web out till filled with smoke, and use hot coal dust for pepper. They roll the smoke, sweetened, into sticks, and sell it for licorice.

DYING.

It is singular to contemplate the various traits of character which are developed in the last stages of existence, exhibiting the singular impressions, passions and prejudices of our nature, at a moment when restraint is no longer necessary, and when we speak as we think, the world's censure having passed away. There are, however, some beautiful samples of calmness on a dying bed.

The late Dr. Cullen, of Richmond, with the gentleness of spirit for which he was distinguished, said, when dying, in an almost inarticulate tone to a friend; "I wish I had the power of writing or speaking, for then I would describe to you how pleasant it is to die." How like the calmness of Addison at the same crisis.

Louis IV, the world knows, was a remarkable man, and in many respects a model of a king. There was a grace in all he did, a precision and elegance in all he said. He spoke rarely with any one, and when he did it was with majesty and brevity. No harsh word ever escaped him. He was polished to the very limits of nature. His death bed was a piece of acting as any other in his life. He died as he had lived, with all the grace and decorum of his brightest moments. His last address to his friends and attendants were distinguished by that remarkable neatness and propriety for which he was so remarkable. In fact it appeared to be so studied and so perfect in the whole scene, as to produce the effect of a well acted play.

Talleyrand was a courtier, with all his eminent talents. When in the last moments of his existence, this remarkable man received a visit from Louis Phillipe, King of the French and thought he had but a few moments to live, he introduced his medical attendants, nurses and friends, with a familiarity belonging to the ancient regime.

"How do you feel?" said the King.

"I am suffering sir, all the pangs of the damned."

Louis Phillippe, with the point and sarcasm which belonged to his character, said sotto voce—

"What! so soon?"

The old politician heard him, and had he lived, would have paid him for the malicious inuendo.

There are some singular incidents of death bed peculiarities, which mark the character of the suffering parties.

Sophia Charlotte, the first Queen of Prussia and sister to George I, was a woman of great learning, intelligence and piety. The chaplain who attended her in her last moments was so struck with her courage and calmness, that instead of exhorting her became a listener.

"I am now going," said she, "to satisfy my curiosity on the principle of things which Leibenitz could not explain to me, on space, infinity, on being on nothing." And on wishing to introduce a Calvinistic minister to her, she said, "let me die in peace, without disputing on this occasion." This was a philosophical death bed.

Anselm, Bishop of Canterbury, in his 76th year, when dying, wished for a little delay, until he could finish a very curious question he had began on the origin of the soul. This was a metaphysical end.

Beaufort, Cardinal of Winchester, who was extremely rich, was worried on his death bed, on finding that wealth could not conciliate the fell destroyer.

"Eye!" said he, "will not death be hired? Will money do nothing? Must I die, who have such great riches?" Here was another ruling passion.

Baithe, a French dramatic poet, who had written a play called "The Selfish Man," having learned that his friend, Colardeau, was dying, flew to the house.

"I am shocked to see you so ill, but I have a favor to ask—it is to hear me read my 'Selfish Man.'"

"Consider, my friend," sain Corlardeau, I have but a few hours to live."

"Alas, yes; but that is the reason I am so anxious to know your opinion of my piece."

He forced him to hear it.

"Your piece," said he, "is only deficient in one point. It wants the power of forcing a dying man to attend to the reading of a comedy of five acts."

Fabre d'Eglantine, when preparing for the guillotine, had only one regret. He had left an unpublished comedy among his manuscripts, and apprehended that Billead Tarrennes would publish it as his own.

When the Good Master Samuel Hern lay on his death bed, rich only in virtue, his wife was lamenting her forlorn condition.

"Peace, sweethart," said he; tha God which feedeth the raven will not starve the Hens."

The instance of such peculiarities in exiremis are numerous and surprising, and they all indicate the peculiar temper, through habits and pursuits of individuals, on the verge of the other world.—Sunday Times.

ORATOR MORLEY PUNSHON got off a good thing the other day when requested to speak. "Speech is silver and silence is gold," said the orator. "As I do not happen to have any small change about me this morning, you will accept the gold?" and he gave them nothing else.

HOW IT STANDS.

The proceedings of the Washington county Republican Convention, held on Monday, have not yet come to hand, but that Geo. V. Lawrence will be their choice for Congress is without doubt. Lawrence county has put forward Hon. William Wallace; Beaver, Michael Weyand, Esq., and Greene Capt. J. B. Donley. These are the men and now who shall be chosen?

Lawrence county presents a man who was once defeated for the office he aspires to. He was defeated, NOT "by slaughter in the house of his friends," but by his own apathy, his refusal to become acquainted with the people. What chance is there that he will do better if nominated again? The fight will be severe and it wants an active man. That county with its fifteen hundred or two thousand Republican majority has a representation in the State Legislature favorable to its interests and from that cause a prosperity has been attained second to none in the District. It has railroads, manufactories, a thickly settled and wealthy populace. Could they not be induced to yield to the interests of their co-laborers in National politics, who are always fighting an enemy entrenched behind a Democratic majority of overpowering strength? It would be charity to give us a chance one time even if we fail.

Beaver county well known as the home of State Treasurer Irwin, of Culbertson, of Sankey, of Robinson, and of a host of others familiar as Government, State and District officers, with a coolness refreshing in June, says she is not yet tired of absorbing the patronage of the public. Her wealth and improvements are eminent witnesses to the goodly share of spoil that has fallen to her lot. If office-holding to Beaver Republicans is the sweetest boon vouchsafed to man, then are they the happiest of mortals. They should now accept contentment.

Of Washington county, and the claims of her candidate it is hardly necessary to speak. Mr. Lawrence has represented her and the District four years in succession, and on all questions of polity acted and voted consistent with the views of his constituents. Thus far his career has been brilliant, winning for him the plaudit, "well done good and faithful servant." It is now hoped that he will "enter into the joys" of his domestic relations and thus escape the "privations of public life." Washington should throw its influence with those who helped her in time of need, and be satisfied with her offices and distinguished position among the Western counties. Really, she has no favors to ask.

Greene county, at desperate odds, standing isolated and alone without the circle that joins the sister counties of the District, now hails them for admittance. She is clamorous for recognition. With a spirit of magnanimity unprecedented, her faithful few have borne the brunt of hard fought fields, content that they were won and murmuring not because she reaped no reward. They are strangers to the food that Cæsar fattens on. Abjectly ground down by the iron heel of Democracy, they have been left to their fate except when called to do a master's bidding. It is natural that the yoke should gall. When the District Conferees meet we ask them to nominate Capt. J. B. Donley for Congress, and if the rest of the District do as well as in days gone by we will vouch for his election. We ask this in the name of the Soldiers of our county of which he is a fair and distinguished representative; because of his unflinching integrity as an exponent of republican principles; because of his ability and the energy and thoroughness with which he would prosecute the canvass. We ask it for the reason that our county expects and is entitled to the honor, that she is desirous of lifting herself to a deserved place beside her sister counties in regard to wealth and internal improvements. It is not necessary to mention all the considerations that makes it the duty of the Conferees to take this action, but in conclusion let us ask it for the promotion of HARMONY and GOOD FEELING. We are justified in predicting a bad state of affairs if the decision should be against us, and in the name of Heaven is there any one that can accuse the Republicans of Greene of selfishness?

WON'T WORK.

Our "handsome" neighbor last week tried to get up a "sensation" in his favor among the "laboring men," by representing himself as a martyr to the Greenback cause. He pretends some of his Bonded friends have "gone back on him" and that he "don't care a darn," that he goes in for "equal taxation," (which must not be construed to mean "equal rights," for that would include the "nigger.") He is especially denunciatory of the "purse proud bond-holders," and calls on all such in his flock to leave "the sooner the quicker." He knows who he is talking to, however, and will not injure his patronage much if he should read them out. Greene county Democrats don't hold many bonds. The gist of his whole article is contained in this simple paragraph near the close, intended to catch the eye of the weak-kneed and malcontents in the Republican ranks: "For every such voter as we lose from our ranks we will gain scores from the honest, true-hearted men of the opposition!" There, ain't that nice? How respectful! "Honest, true-hearted!"

"Won't you walk into my parlor," etc.

To be sure a man must be ignorant to be caught by such a bait, but the glittering promise and "soft sawder" goes a long way with some people. If the honest, hardworking man will take thought and ask how it came about that the nation was plunged in debt and drenched in blood, and how many different schemes have been resorted to by such men as our neighbor to destroy the credit and ruin the commercial interests of the country, how we are indebted to the Democratic party for each and every national calamity of the last twenty years, he will certainly hesitate before he takes the step. With the record of the Democratic and Republican party before him, no patriot, no lover of right and hater of wrong, no advocate of advancement and despiser of fogyism, can give the former the precedence. But, this is all for nought, our opponents are welcome to the comfort they derive from accessions to their party in this locality from our ranks. They wouldn't bait a bear trap. Whereas, the sturdy War Democracy, fond of their party name and its memories in the days of Jackson and Jefferson, will flock to the standard as they did in '61, and aid us by voting for GRANT, to wipe out the traitorous element that misrepresents the name of Democracy.

TOOK IT BACK.

The House on last Tuesday week passed a resolution voting 20 per cent. additional to salaried officials of a certain grade employed at the Capitol, by a vote of 71 to 58. A sum exceeding two millions would thus have been added to the public expenses. Our leading papers appealed to the Republican members to vote it down; Democratic papers said not a word, but all but two of their members voted for the resolution in direct opposition to their boasted determination of reducing the public burden. The whole thing could then have been laid at doors of the "d—d Radicals!" D'ye see! Fortunately the vote was reconsidered later in the week and defeated by 68 to 64. One more opportunity lost to the Copperheads of appealing to the tax-payers and another item added to the record of "what Democrats would do if they got control of the Government." Eighteen Democrats FOR to two AGAINST giving away two millions of the people's money! Is that "retrenchment and reform?" Would the thing have been reversed if Democrats had a majority? Tax-payers should watch these little matters.

WESTERN Democratic editors in this State have decided in a recent convention held at Pittsburgh to stick to Pendleton and Greenbacks, and you can't find a man, who is on paper for any amount, in this whole country, but what sees a "good thing" in the probability of making a discount of fifty per cent. in paying his debts. Just mark how common it is.

CONSERVATIVE SOLDIERS (?)

We call the attention of our conservative soldiers, who talk of sending delegates to the Democratic Convention at New York, to the proceedings of the Democratic Convention in Alabama. The Alabama Democrats elected delegates to New York Convention, and then "tendered the thanks of the Southern people to Jeff. Davis for the unflinching courage and unsurpassed ability with which he acquitted himself of his official oath to defend the Constitution, and paying to him the respect of the Convention as a patriot and incorruptible man." The Franklin Repository truthfully remarks, these men are conservative Democratic soldiers, and represent the National Democracy. They will meet the delegates from Pennsylvania to nominate a candidate for the Presidency; and as Jeff Davis' manner of saving the country and defending the Constitution suits them they will strive to nominate a man of his views. If they do the Pennsylvania Democracy who "respect Jeff Davis as a patriot and incorruptible man," but who were too cowardly to fight for his patriotism, will be found working with the Alabama Democrats for the success of a ticket for which they did fight, until they had well nigh drowned the land in sorrow and in blood. How do you like the company gentlemen? and you 'conservative soldiers, now you can make amends for the sin of fighting against Jeff Davis and his patriots. Don't let the opportunity escape.

For the REPUBLICAN.

FROM THE WEST.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 15th, 1868.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—Since I met you at the great convocation of the Republican Party at Chicago, and witnessed the unanimous and enthusiastic nomination of Grant and the equally enthusiastic endorsement of Colfax, I have seen no cause to doubt the success of our ticket in the coming campaign. You are aware, perhaps, that Indiana is considered a doubtful State; but the fact that our forces are awake to the danger, and are preparing for a vigorous contest, will serve to assure you that we mean to be victorious.

It is now believed that if the Democrats nominate an eastern man for President, Senator Hendricks will be put on the ticket with him for Vice President. In that case, as Hendricks is now the Democratic candidate for Governor of this State, that party will make a new nomination. The indications point to Joe. McDonald as the most, if not the only, available man; the same individual, you will remember, who was so ignominously slaughtered by Governor Morton. If this occurs it will be to the advantage of the Democracy, as McDonald, despite his former failures, is a more formidable opponent than Hendricks. In either case, however, the Republicans of Indiana are determined to do their duty, as they have heretofore done, and defeat their opposition.

The party in this State is intensely radical, and this is one of the most radical congressional districts; now represented by Hon. G. S. Orth, and will be again the coming Congress. Mr. Orth is one of those rare public men, against whose integrity, both as a man and a politician, no suspicion can be raised. Every speech he has uttered and every vote he has cast have been in the interest of his country. He has been a thorough, consistent, unflinching radical, faithfully representing his constituency and holding a highly honorable and creditable position among his fellow-members. While he was at his post of duty, during the boisterous time of impeachment, a movement at home was organized against him similar to that which he so signally defeated at his last election. After a brief and sharp campaign he has come out the victor more signally than before, and is now our candidate for the next Congress. Standing as he does on his radical record this his fourth successive nomination will serve to give you some slight idea of the political complexion of this district.

You can hardly know how highly we regard Colfax, and what an influence his name will have in carrying the great North West. He is one of Indiana's idols, and it is no small honor to be ranked with such men as Morton, Lane and other great lights of our party. He is a politician of the new school that is to be in "the good times coming," a christain gentleman and a representative of the true "Young American" element. The thunders of enthusiasm that arose in Chicago will roll increasingly over the prairies of the West in honor of the patriotic and victorious General at the head of our ticket and in honor of that other man thereon, Schuyler Colfax, whose reputation for virtue, honor and probity has kept equal pace with his great and growing fame as a statesman.

As at the convention Pennsylvania decided the nomination in favor of Colfax we now look to her to decide the success of our ticket. Every eye will be turned on the Keystone State, and through close scrutiny great will be her honors for well doing.

The faint hold that the repudiation idea obtained in the minds of our people has declined, and they have concluded to leave that piece of dishonesty and meanness to the Democrats, who are better qualified for its advocacy by education, association and a long line of similar examples within their own ranks.

The crops are looking finely and promise well. The weather, though intensely hot, is favorable and we much need a great abundance in that line.

H.

A United States Marshal Assassinated by Kentucky Rebels.

RUSSELVILLE, KY., June 16.—Major Lawrence, U. S. Marshal of this District, was assassinated in this place this morning by a returned Rebel soldier. He is the fifth Union man that has been murdered here within the past few months. During the war he was Major of the 17th (Ky.) Cavalry, and proved to be a very gallant officer. He has a brother residing in Buffalo, New York.

BOWLING GREEN, KY., June 17.—The assassination of Major Lawrence, at Russellville, yesterday, was the result of a deliberate determination on the part of the Rebels to kill or drive out every Union Man in their midst. He had been repeatedly threatened by the Ku Klux Klan. A week ago he received notice that he was to be killed in less than ten days. He paid no attention to the warning, and as he was going out of town yesterday afternoon to serve a summons, the assassin stole upon him and literally butchered him in broad day light. Capt. McClery of the army, who went down to investigate the case, pronounced it cool, premeditated murder. Union citizens are arming, and the utmost excitement prevails. A detachment of the 2d Regulars reached there last night.

Mr. Chase's Platform.

The Chief Justice's private secretary asserts that Mr. Chase will accept the nomination of the New York Convention on a platform to the following effect: Economy in public affairs; reduction in taxation; maintenance of the rights of foreign born citizens; condemnation of military tribunals for trial of persons not in the army; speedy withdrawal of military government from the South; recognition of reserved rights of the States; universal amnesty and immediate restortation to the Union of the late rebel States with constitutions acceptable to the numerical majority of each State; suffrage to be entirely under the control of the several States with a recommendation that it shall be impartial. The private Secretary has reduced this statement to writing, and the document has been circulating for the last two days among leading Democrats of Congress. They say they are given to understand that it may be taken as a correct representation of the Chief Justice's position. The platform is reported to be silent on the finantial question.

"Handing in their Chips!"

That brilliant and very ultra Democratic journal, the New York Citizen, takes a very sensible view in the following language:

"Grant and Colfax make a ticket hard to beat. The wonderful military success of the one, and the great political ability of the other, cannot be written down or belittled by newspaper editors; and the attempt to do so is a folly only worthy of the late management of the Democratic party. The hero of Donelson, Corinth, and most wonderful of all, Vicksburg, and finally of Richmond, is not a third rate Gen. and no literary scribe can make him one. The gentleman who has worked his way to the Speakership of the House of Representatives is no bad politician, and those who buy him for one will not make a profitable bargain. Probably there are not two leading names stronger, individually or collectively, than the two which have been put forward."

"CHOICE" LITERATURE.

"It devolves upon our Democratic journals and speakers to warn the people against the Satanic white nigger mobs known as Christian associations, aid societies, mission clubs, etc. Democrats avoid them as you would the plague."—Lacrosse Democrat.

The Franklin Repository claims that this man's style is not so chaste as that of Addison, nor so concise and forcible as that of Swift, but it has all the attributes of Democratic gospel, and we would urge every Democratic voter to take his paper. Especially if he has a refined and intelligent wife, and bright and promising children growing up around his hearth-stone, whom he loves as the apple of his eye, should he introduce among them this paper, "whose editor believes in the religion of Jesus Christ, in the Bible and in a Heaven." Why don't Democratic journals give it notoriety?

THE World the other day completely upset the damn-the-negro idea in an article in the course of which it said:

"There is every reason to expect that the Southern negroes will vote in the Presidential election, and if we permit all those States to be carried by the Republicans we may as well hang our harps on the willows." * "It would be suicidal to put into the platform any declaration which Radical orators could use to turn the negro vote against us."

IT is so customary to resort to "rosy statements" to induce immigration, that the Superintendent of the Union Pacific Railroad deserves a good mark for candor. He says: "Young men from the East with good recommendations that come here, must not be afraid of their scalps, must be content with rude fare, be willing to sleep on the prairie and work hard."

DEMOCRATIC FRAUDS.

In order to show how Pennsylvania was carried last fall by the Romarr Catholics and Copperheads combined, we publish the testimony of two witnesses in the contested election case of John K. Robinson, (Republican) vs. Samuel T. Shugart, (Copperhead.) From the testimony taken from the Legislative Record, Session of 1868, it appears that a railroad sixteen miles long was being built during the summer and fall of 1867, in Clearfield and Center counties, that but a few rods only of this road was in Center county; about four hundred Irishmen were employed on the road and boarded in shanties along the line. A State Senator was to be elected in the Center District, but none in the Clearfield. Center county is a Republican county, but in order to elect a Copperhead and defeat the will of the people, Senator Wallace Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and the leaders of the party in Center county, combined with a Roman Catholic Priest, had these four hundred Irish Catholics transferred from their shanties in Clearfield into Center county a few days before the election procured fraudulent naturalization papers and voted them against the Republican candidate and defeated him. Father Tracy, the Catholic Priest, when it was discovered that the fraud was going to be investigated, gave O'Meara, a principal witness, $500 to to leave the State—the money said to have been received from Wallace. The Copperhead papers harp on Protestant Ministers meddling in politics, but can any of these ribalders of protestant ministers and religion mention an instance wherein a protestant minister was ever implicated in a deliberate fraud upon the ballot box. The bloody hand of the Romish Church is hidden in her dark and damnable deeds. It is only over the low and ignorant she sways her sceptre, and Democratic politicians, are always ready, anxious and willing to sell their country into the hands of Rome, if they can but obtain a paltry office. We would like to publish all of the testimony in this case, but our space is limited, and therefore will give the testimony of but two—O'Meara and John Casey—this witness, on his return to Clearfield county, was waylaid and murdered, but the murderers were never apprehended.

In the Senate of the State of Pennsylvania, John K. Robinson vs Samuel T. Shugart—XXIst Senatorial District, Legislative Record: Session 1868, pages 1,406-7.

JANUARY 22, 1868, Committee met, all the members present.

M. O'Meara, sworn—I was working for Mr. Collins, railroad contractor, on the railroad; I was pit boss; had from ten to twenty men under me at times; Patrick Gorman was walking boss; I was working four miles from Clearfield, east, twelve miles from the line, when James Collins and Patrick Gorman came to me and said they wanted to go to Centre county for ten days, saying their object was to carry the election; they said it was a Republican hole, and they intended running in enough votes to carry it; I took the men to Centre county; Col. Skelly's gang also went, all that were at work then; in and around Phillipsburg there were about one hundred men the day of election; they were quartered at Mr. Keplar's, Mr. Gray's, Mr. Harris's, and Mr. Donehue's; I was in Phillipsburg all day, most of the time at the polls; the polls are in the same building. I gave two men Democratic tickets; Sheriff Perks and Mr. Lede distributed tickets; Lede was a walking boss on the road; I saw them giving the men tickets; Sheriff Perks borrowed a sheet of tickets from me to have others printed; the tickets were all Democratic; about all that were on the ground voted; all had naturalization papers; obtained them, as we said in Luzerne county; this one on the table is similar to those used; they were colored; the men said they obtained or arranged for the papers two miles out of Clearfield, on Saturday evening before the election, in a shanty kept by Mrs. Lynch; they said two lawyers came from Philadelphia, and after they were sworn, Lede took possession of the papers, and that he colored them with coffee; the day of election they were handed the papers; Mr. Lede at the same time furnished the tax receipt [a receipt shown witness, and identified as similar to those used;] I did nothing while in Phillipsburg; I did not vote; I saw all vote that I named; I had no Republican tickets.

Cross-examination—I never agreed to vote my men on the Republican side; never said for $100 I would do so; I received money the day before and day after, of Mr. Crisman $25, of Mr. Johnson, day after, $60, of Sheriff Perks $12; I received of Rev. Father Tracy $500. * * * * The $500 was given me two weeks ago last Tuesday to prevent my being a witness. * * The priest came and told me that my evidence would be hard against the Democratic party; and that he had $200 he would give me if I would leave * * * * * I told the priest that I would take my family and go for $2,000; Father Tracy told me he would let me know in a few days, and when we next met the priest told me that he had written for advice, and that Wallace thought that $100 per month was enough; I supposed that it was Wallace, the Clearfield lawyer; I told the priest I would take $500. * * * The men voted in borough and township; Michael Fallon and one other were in the country but a short time; the men told me that Lede took the lawyers to Tyrone; the men went back to Clearfield county, after the election, where they lived in shanties: but fifty or sixty rods of the road is in Center county; all the voters were challenged at the polls.

John Casey sworn—I was working on the railroad for Mr. Collins at the (1867) election; was boarding in Phillipsburgh, when I voted with the other men. Mr. Lede took me to vote and gave me naturalization papers, and put it in; cannot read; am as ignorant as a baste; I put the paper in my pocket, cannot tell what became of it, I was never naturalized, never was in a court before this; Lede told me to vote; I was working near Mr. Collin's store; came the day that O'Meara did to Phillipsburgh; voted Democratic.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD is being built more rapidly this year than ever. The word is, "To Salt Lake by Christmas." Six hundred and forty miles are now in running order, and a hundred miles more are nearly ready for the track. Brigham Young has five thousand men at work in Utah, and says he is not afraid of the Gentiles. It is probable that the locomotive will go through to the Pacific in 1869 instead of 1870, and will carry along with it an immense train of passengers and freight, now awaiting that happy event. Contrary to the usual experience of railroad companies, the Union Pacific has an abundance of ready money, and pays cash for everything. Its First Mortgage Six per Cent. Gold Bonds are eagerly taken throughout the country by parties of sound financial judgment. The sales have already amounted to seventeen million dollars.

HENRY CLAY DEAN, the Iowa apostle of Democracy, made his appearance in Ottumwa last week. The Courier has this to say of his visit: "H. C. Dean is in the city; was here last night, and in front of one of the saloons near a corner on Main street, was spouting treason to a knot of his proselytes—the faithful 'Democracy.' He was overheard to say that 'these one-armed soldiers who are thrust under our noses as objects of charity are fit carcasses for the gallows.'"

THE New York Leader having said, "If Colfax has ever been a printer, he'll know what it is to have a form pied next November," the Providence Journal adds the following diamond foot-note: "Exactly so. The Democratic form is already so badly squabbled and off its feet that the strongest chase in the country can't hold it together, and there are clear indications that it will be in h—l, the receptable for broken forms, very early in November."

Information Wanted.

My widowed daughter, Eliza Ray, was sent North by Gen. Sherman in his raid through Georgia, from her home in Marietta, with her five children. Information of her whereabouts will be thankfully received. Address Rev. Elijah Roberts, Somerville, Ala. Papers will please copy the above for the benefit of a worthy poor man, who would pay their bills if he could.

THE Washington Chronicle says: "The Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Pennsylvania informed a friend in Pittsburgh, a few evenings ago, that it would be a hard job to carry Pennsylvania against Grant and Colfax; and to prove it he demonstrated that last Fall the Democratic Judge was elected by less than 1,000, with the Democrats polling 94 per cent. of their whole vote, and the Republicans 75 per cent. less of theirs."

By the explosion of a steam fire engine, at New York, on Thursday evening, five young men, all under twenty-five years of age, were killed. One of these was blown from the sidewalk into the door of the Bowery theatre, some twenty feet. The concussion also nearly overturned a passing horse-car, which was crowded with people. The wounded number nearly forty, but many are hurt only slightly.

"TRUE LIGHTS" is the name of the Grant and Colfax Campaign Club recently organized at Freeport, Ill. It is officered by a Captain, First and Second Lieutenants and Sergeant. Their uniform consists of oilcloth navy caps oilcloth capes, and torches, similar to those of the "Wide Awakes" of 1860. They mean work, and that is what all Republicans ought to prepare for immediately.

THE boat race between Hammill and Coulter, of Pittsburgh, came off on the Schuylkill on Thursday last. After two races, the first resulting in an upset, and the last in a broken oar for Coulter, the race was decided for Hammill. There are various opinions upon the result, the popular one being that it was a shameless piece of jockeying.

THE Government has abandoned its charge of treason against John H. Surratt, on the ground that under the Constitution it requires two witnesses of the overt act, or a confession of the accused in open court, to make a case. Surratt has, however, been indicted under the act of July 17, 1862, for giving aid and comfort the to enemy.

A Veto.

The President vetoed the Arkansas bill Saturday, on the ground that it would if approved negative his previous policy and justify that of Congress. It is only a quibble to postpone the work of reconstruction, and give Copperheads capital for electioneering purposes.

A DEMOCRATIC paper says "one reason why Grant and Colfax won't run well in the east, is beause they are both from States—Indiana and Illinois—west of the Mississippi river!" That's all right.

The "Conservative" Soldiers.

The Commercial says, the mass meeting of "conservative soldiers and sailors," held at the St. Charles Hotel, on Saturday evening, must have been a very conservative gathering indeed. Reporters were not admitted, and the proceedings will be furnished, "cut and dried" for the perusal of those who take the conservative papers. We understand that delegates were chosen to the State Convention of "White Boys in Blue," to be held in Philadelphia on the 2d of July. The Leader disposes of the mass convention thus:

Three or four "conservative" soldiers and sailors held a mass meeting last night at the St. Charles Hotel. They were so ashamed of the meagre attendance that they adjourned to an eight by ten room up stairs, and after carefully excluding the reporters passed a long string of resolutions, and got up a list of delegates which will appear in the "conservative" papers hereafter. Industrious inquiries failed to secure the names of any known soldier present, and we are inclined to think the meeting a myth; but for all that the proceedings will appear duly "cooked up."

LAKE DISASTER.

Steamer Morning Star and Barque Cortland Collide---Both the Vessels Sunk---Some Twenty Persons Missing.

CLEVELAND, June 21.—The steamer Morning Star, hence from Detroit, collided with the barque Cortland, thirty miles from here, last night at eleven o'clock. Both were sunk. The total passenger list of the steamer was forty, crew thirty; crew of the barque thirteen. Of these about twenty are missing, the remainder having been picked up by the steamer R. N. Rice.

THE St. Louis Democrat says that "Brick" Pomeroy's recent speech in that city made Grant 200 votes, and wants "Brick" to come again.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.—Attorneys will be held responsible for Paper Books, Advertising and Job Work, ordered by them and not paid for in advance. Such bills to be collectable on demand.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—The attention of our readers is specially directed to the following advertisements, which appear for the first time in our paper to-day.

☞Our New Chart—H. H. Lloyd & Co.

☞Executor's Notice—John Lewis, Jacob Greenlee.

STRAWBERRIES are done for the season.

"TIM" runs a coach, tri-weekly, to and from Pittsburgh.

BATHING in the creek is one of the comforts of the times.

YOUNG persons desiring to study German or Latin, will find good instruction at the Normal School.

ALMOST twenty columns of new reading matter in the REPUBLICAN each week. Price fifty cents in advance from now until after the election. Send in the money and names.

TO-MORROW—or to-day rather—will be a big day in Waynesburg. Numerous lodges will be in attendance at the Mason walk accompanied by three or four bands of music. There will be a large crowd and a good time if the weather is favorable.

THE WEATHER.—Until Saturday last the weather had been dry for a spell. On Sunday night a fine shower of rain fell, refreshing vegetation, cooling the air and laying the dust. It was most opportune. Corn and grain of all kinds are looking well.

INDECENT.—The window of the iron clad part of the Prothonotary's office is appropriated to another use than that intended. From the looks a little chloride of white lime would prove beneficial. The whole building is degenerating rapidly into a Democratic cesspool.

A FREAK.—Monday one of those strange occurrences which happen in our natural lives. Our citizens—some of them—were not thrown into excitement but throwing themselve outside their coats, went into the street and—cleaned it up much nicer than we have seen it for many a day. Nobody killed, but several mortally lazy.

MIGRATION.—The people of New York are at present in a high state of excitement concerning a colony being formed in Carmichaels to move thence to Tennessee. It is said to be officered by heroic spirits, anxious to move to this new land of promise by a knight errantry as devoted as that of Don Quixote. Anything about it in Greene county?

SUNK.—The tow-boat "Lark," in the employ of the Old Line, sunk her flat loaded with freight near Fredericktown, Saturday night about 12 o'clock. The loss will be quite heavy on some body as it went down in twenty feet of water. Several parties here had goods lost or damaged. Railroad! railroad!!! r-a-i-l-r-o-a-d!!!

FAIR AT WAYNESBURG.—Among the many schemes at present on foot among our citizens that of an agricultural fair to be held in this place is worthy of note. About one thousand dollars have been subscribed, and we understand the ground can be procured and fitted up in time for exhibition the coming Fall. When the arrangements are complete and water runs up hill instead of down our readers shall be duly posted.

FAYETTE COUNTY.—The Standard mentions the mysterious disappearance of Hannah Crago, of Davidson's Ferry. It is supposed she drowned herself in the Monongahela River on Saturday, May the 20th. A woman answering her description was seen near the river that day with a bundle in her arms, and as she has not been seen since the probablity is that she jumped into the river. She had not been in her right mind for some time.

GRANT AND COLFAX.—We have received from H. H. Lloyd & Co., 21 John Street, New York, the well-known Map Publishers a Colored Pictorial and Statistical Chart containing very good likenesses of our Candidates, Sketches of their lives, the Platform, Letter of Acceptance, Portraits of all the Presidents, and very interesting Statistics relating to former Presidential elections. This Chart is designed for the masses, and sold so cheaply that all can have it. See advertisement in another column.

PROPOSE TO CELEBRATE.—"Vigilant" Lodge I. O. of G. T., are making preparations to observe the anniversary of the Fourth by a grand Temperance picnic, in which all the Sabbath Schools, and the citizens generally have been invited to participate. It is intended to make the affair interesting by speeches appropriate to the day and occasion, by toasts, etc. It will be largely attended.

Since the above is in type we have received a card inviting "all the friends of Temperance and moral reform to participate," with the addition to the programme of vocal and instrumental music and refreshments, signed by

GRATUITOUS SUGGESTIONS.—Where there a large family we would most respectfully suggest the propriety of not sending over one-half of them to the Post office for a letter at the same time, especially as all know that the room in which mail matter is distributed, here is a very small one. Another hint: When you do receive a letter or a paper, pass out of the distributing room as quick as possible and do not show your want of appreciating the convenience of others by halting right in the door, opening your letter, and standing there, blockading the way all the while—until you have read it through, and digested its contents. None but unmannerly people do this, but it is done nevertheless quite frequently in the Post office in Waynesburg Pa.

Norwood; or, Village life in New England; by Henry Ward Beecher.

This story originally written for the Ledger, has been published in book form, by the well known firm of Charles Scribner & Co., 654 Broadway, New York. The book contains nearly six hundred pages, in cloth binding, and will be sent post paid for $1,50 to any address. Its merits are unquestioned, as Mr. Beecher never puts in print anything but good His picture of New England life is vivid as life, characters and sentiment are evenly drawn and the wit and wisdom intermingled furnishes a never failing source of interest. Mr. Beecher draws largely from Nature and his wonderful power of description added to a keen insight and love for natural objects, makes the work very instructive as well as amusing. It should be in every family circle where there is a taste for fact and fancy interwoven for good.

MOORE'S LIFE OF HON. SCHUYLER COLFAX.—T. B. Paterson & Bro., No. 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, have in Press and will publish in a few days, "The Life of Hon. Schuyler Colfax," written by Rev. A. Y. Moore, of South Bend, Indiana, who was for twelve years as pastor and friend, in the entire confidence of Mr. Colfax, and had access to the files of the paper published by Mr. Colfax for twelve years, and to the Congressional Globe; knows all his past history and all who have known him from boyhood. He began his biography two or three years ago, so that it is not one of the hurried and ephemeral publications so common in election years. Mr. Moore is a gentleman of fine talant and culture, and their is no doubt but that his biography of Mr. Colfax will be worthy of its distinguished subject.

The following letter from Mr. Colfax, to Rev. A. Y. Moore will explain itself:

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 30, 1867.

"My dear Mr. Moore:—As your prediction of a year ago has been realized, I have no further objection to your publishing any sketch more or less full, of my life, you may have prepared. As you was for a dozen years a fellow townsman of mine, and a valued friend I suppose you know as much about my history as the public would care about knowing; and although my engrossing duties here leave me no time to revise the manuscript, I have no fear that your work will not be a faithful one." Yours, very truly,

SCHUYLER COLFAX.

Rev. A. Y. Moore, South Bend, Indiana.

It will be published in a large duodecimo volume of five hundred pages, printed from large type, and on the finest and best of white paper, with a portrait, on steel, of Mr. Colfax executed by one of the first artists in the country, from photographs taken from Mr. Colfax within the last week; the whole bound in cloth in the most substantial manner. Price $1,50 a copy. Canvassers wanted everywhere. Large discounts given. Copies will be sent to any one at once, post paid, on receipt of price, by the publishers.

WEST VIRGINIA.—It will soon be a year since they have had a death in Morgantown. It is hard telling whether it is owing to the salubrity of the climate or the disgust of the devil.

Whooping cough is prevalent in Morgantown, as yet without serious results.

The Clarksburg Telegraph in a lengthy article, warmly advocates the election of Gen. T. M. Harris as United States Senator, to succeed Mr Van Winkle.

Moses B. Harter, of Monongalia county, writes us that he sheared his Vermont Buck purchased at the Carmichael's Fair last fall, and the fleece weighed twenty pounds heavy weight. This is ahead, by one half pound, of anything in this "diggin's."

Peter J. Weaver killed a rattlesnake, on Monday last, upon the farm of Mr. J. H. Hoffman, near Morgantown, that measured four and a half feet in length, and was supplied with seventeen rattles.

Governor Boreman of West Virginia offers one hundred dollars reward for the arrest and delivery to the authorities of Taylor county, West Virginia, of Richard Clever, for the murder of Harmon Hesser, on the 28th day of May. Clever is about five feet eight inches high, sparely built, long chin, brown hair, whiskers and mustache—thin on his face and lighter than hair—eyes blue and sunken, complexion fair. He is supposed to be somewhere in Pennsylvania, as he has friends and relatives in this State.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.—Hon Geo V. Lawrence has announced himself as a candidate for Congressional honors. The Reporter thinks "Mr. Lawrence will received the hearty support of this county for the nomination." But that won't elect Mr. Lawrence in the District.

The Democracy have put the following ticket in the field: Congress, Col. Wm. Hopkins; Assembly, R. M'Kinley, of West Brownsville, and Alfred Creigh of Washington; District Attorney, Ianthus Bentley of Monongahela City; Commissioner, James Kerr; of Carroll Auditor, A. E. Walker, Cross Creek; Director of the Poor, J M Day of Morris.

The editor of the Monongahela Republican Mr. Chill Hazzard, recently expressed himself very much disgusted at the course of seven Senators on Impeachment, alleging that the people were outraged and betrayed by their action. For this he was removed from the position of Postmaster of Monongahela City, a place he has long and satisfactorily filled. Of course he is honored for sacrificing place for principle.

Copperheads are preparing to desecrate the memories of the coming aniversary of the Fourth by holding a picnic in a grove near Washington.

"They made her a grave too cold and damp
For a soul so honest and true."

If they had been wise, the dire necessity of opening the grave for one so lovely might have been averted. Plantation Bitters, if timely used, are sure to rescue the young and lovely, the middle-aged, and the ailing, from confirmed sickness.

Almost all diseases have their begining in some slight difficulty of the Stomach, which would eventuate in Dyspepsia, Headache, Liver Complaints, Night Sweats, Consumption Death. Plantation Bitters will prevent these premonitory symptoms, and keep the blood pure and the health good.

While they invigorate the system they enliven the mind.

INTERTROPICAL fragrance rises in invisible clouds the moment that a bottle of Phalon's "Flor de Mayo," the new perfume for the handkerchief, is opened; one single drop scents a handkerchief. Sold by all druggists.

THE State Normal School, at Edinboro, is the best place for the young people of Western Pennsylvania to obtain an education. Its advantages are surpassed by no similar Institution known to us.

HAPPY.—The children are happy in anticipation of the vacation and enjoyment of a holiday on the Fourth. Young and old are in glee over Guiher's magnificent stock of Dry Goods.

FOR THE SUMMER SEASON.—Guiber has fifteen hundred hats for ladies and gents, all of the latest styles. His straw goods cannot be surpassed.

THE time of the completion of the Baptist College at Jefferson is not known, but that Fordyce's sell the best goods at the lowest price is a fact generally admitted.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, June 20, 1868.

During the past week there has been a general lastitude. As to commercial values there have been no very radical changes during the week. This depression is mainly due to the restricted demand, and to the excellent crop prospects, which latter give premonition of a decline in the prices of food. Breadstuffs have been very heavy, and the tendency of prices is unmistakably for a lower range at no distant day. Speculation may keep up prices for a few weeks but should the crops mature well flour will be lower than it has been for several years. For provisions there is a moderate inquiry.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale prices:

PENNA. CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

PITTSBURGH, June 18, 1868.

CATTLE—The market furnished only a limited number of transactions, although the offerings were larger. The usual buyers evidently have no faith in the present prices, hence their purchases were governed accordingly. Prices ranged from $5 20 to $8 20.

SHEEP—The market was a pretty active one; the sales being among the largest we have reported for some weeks. The rates however were precisely the same as last week. Of the number sold, 725 were sold by the head, at prices ranging from $1 to $2 35 ₱ head.

HOGS—There was a falling off in the demand, with a corresponding decline in prices. Buyers took hold very sparingly. The heavy shipments East have glutted and depressed the market, although the prices of good smooth hogs suitable for shipment held their own exceedingly well.

Markets.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Trade more active and the market decidedly firmer for all fine brown and bleached muslins. Certain styles of heavy brown sheetings are also firmer. Stark A. for instance, which sold as low as 19¼c by the package, are now firm at 19½c. These goods must advance. All light styles of prints are being closed out low, but dark colors are held firmly at 13½c.

WOOL.

Holders of the finer old clip Wools are ready to sell in anticipation of the early appearance of the new, and this feeling has made prices easy and led to some transactions; but the market for Fleeces, generally, is quiet. Some small lots of new clip have already come in, but it is alleged that the whole receipt will be later than usual, having been affected, like everything else, by a lingering winter.

640 MILES

OF THE

UNION PACIFIC

RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. Sixty miles of the track have been laid this spring, and the work along the whole line between the Atlantic and Pacific States is being pushed forward more rapidly than ever before. More than twenty thousand men are employed, and it is not impossible that the entire track, from Omaha to Sacramento, will be finished in 1869 instead o 1870. The means provided are ample, and all that energy, men and money can do to secure the completion of this

at the earliest possible day, will be done.

The UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY receive:

I.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations.

II.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of 12,800 acre of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road. This is an absolute donation, and will be a source of large revenue in the future.

III.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections to be built. The Government takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, &c. The interest is now more than paid in this way, besides securing a great saving in time and money to the Government.

IV.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to aid in building the road, to the same amount as the U. S. Bonds, issued for the same purpose, and NO MORE. THE GOVERNMENT PERMITS the Trustees for the First Mortgage Bondholders to deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the road is completed, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class Railroad, laid with a heavy Trail, and completely supplied with depots, stations, turnouts, car-shops, locomotives, cars, &c.

V.—A CAPITAL STOCK SUBSCRIPTION from the stockholders, of which OVER EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in upon the work already done, and which will be increased as the wants of the Company require.

VI.—NET CASH EARNINGS on its Way Business, that already amount to MORE THAN THE INTEREST on the First Mortgage Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through traffic that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove the

upon such property, costing nearly three times their amount,

ARE SECURE BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY.

The Union Pacific Bonds are for $1,000 each and have coupons attached, and bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July at the Company's Office in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. The price is 102, and at the present rate of gold, these bonds pay a liberal income on their cost.

The Company believe that these Bonds, at the present rate are the cheapest security in the market, and reserve the right to advance the price at any time.

Parties subscribing will remit the par value of the bonds and the accrued interest in currency at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the date on which the last coupon was paid. Subscriptions will be received in Waynesburg, Pa., BY THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

In New York

AT THE COMPANY'S OFFICE, 20 Nassau St. and by

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, 59 Wall St.

And by the Company's Advertising Agents throughout the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP for 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the progress of the work, the resources of the country traversed by the Road, the means for construction, and the value of the bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices or to any of the advertised agents.

JOHN J. CISCO, Treasurer, New York.

Sewing Machines.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

SINGER

SEWING MACHINE.

OUR NEW FAMILY MACHINE,

Has been over two years in preparation, and which has been brought to perfection regardless of time, labor or expense, and is now confidently presented to the public as incomparably the best sewing Machine in existence.

The Machine in question is simple, compact, durable and beautiful. It is quiet, light running and capable of performing a range and variety of work never before attempted upon a single Machine—using either Silk, Twist, Linen or Cotten Thread, and sewing with equal facility the very finest and coarsest materials, and anything between the two extremes, in the most beautiful and substantial manner. Its attachments for Hemming, Braiding, Cording, Tucking, Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are Novel and Practical, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.

New designs of the unique, useful and popular folding tops and cabinet cases peculiar to the Machines manufactured by this Company have been prepared for enclosing the new Machines. These are gotten up in every variety of wood, such as Black Walnut, Mahogany, Rosewood, and the like, and from the plainest to the most elaborate pattern and finish—the Machines themselves being more or less highly ornamented, to correspond with the Tables or Cabinets for which they are intended.

A few reasons why SINGER'S latest improved SEWING MACHINES are the best for Family and General Purposes.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—The attention of our readers is specially directed to the following advertisements, which appear for the first time in our paper to-day.

☞Our New Chart—H. H. Lloyd & Co.

☞Executor's Notice—John Lewis, Jacob Greenlee.

YOUNG persons desiring to study German or Latin, will find good instruction at the Normal School.

ALMOST twenty columns of new reading matter in the REPUBLICAN each week. Price fifty cents in advance from now until after the election. Send in the money and names.

TO-MORROW—or to-day rather—will be a big day in Waynesburg. Numerous lodges will be in attendance at the Mason walk accompanied by three or four bands of music. There will be a large crowd and a good time if the weather is favorable.

THE WEATHER.—Until Saturday last the weather had been dry for a spell. On Sunday night a fine shower of rain fell, refreshing vegetation, cooling the air and laying the dust. It was most opportune. Corn and grain of all kinds are looking well.

INDECENT.—The window of the iron clad part of the Prothonotary's office is appropriated to another use than that intended. From the looks a little chloride of white lime would prove beneficial. The whole building is degenerating rapidly into a Democratic cesspool.

A FREAK.—Monday one of those strange occurrences which happen in our natural lives. Our citizens—some of them—were not thrown into excitement but throwing themselve outside their coats, went into the street and—cleaned it up much nicer than we have seen it for many a day. Nobody killed, but several mortally lazy.

MIGRATION.—The people of New York are at present in a high state of excitement concerning a colony being formed in Carmichaels to move thence to Tennessee. It is said to be officered by heroic spirits, anxious to move to this new land of promise by a knight errantry as devoted as that of Don Quixote. Anything about it in Greene county?

SUNK.—The tow-boat "Lark," in the employ of the Old Line, sunk her flat loaded with freight near Fredericktown, Saturday night about 12 o'clock. The loss will be quite heavy on some body as it went down in twenty feet of water. Several parties here had goods lost or damaged. Railroad! railroad!! r-a i-l-r-o-a-d!!!

FAIR AT WAYNESBURG.—Among the many schemes at present on foot among our citizens that of an agricultural fair to be held in this place is worthy of note. About one thousand dollars have been subscribed, and we understand the ground can be procured and fitted up in time for exhibition the coming Fall. When the arrangements are complete and water runs up hill instead of down our readers shall be duly posted.

FAYETTE COUNTY.—The Standard mentions the mysterious disappearance of Hannah Crago, of Davidson's Ferry. It is supposed she drowned herself in the Monongahela River on Saturday, May the 20th. A woman answering her description was seen near the river that day with a bundle in her arms, and as she has not been seen since the probablity is that she jumped into the river. She had not been in her right mind for some time.

GRANT AND COLFAX.—We have received from H. H. Lloyd & Co., 21 John Street, New York, the well-known Map Publishers a Colored Pictorial and Statistical Chart containing very good likenesses of our Candidates, Sketches of their lives, the Platform, Letter of Acceptance, Portraits of all the Presidents, and very interesting Statistics relating to former Presidential elections. This Chart is designed for the masses, and sold so cheaply that all can have it. See advertisement in another column.

PROPOSE TO CELEBRATE.—"Vigilant" Lodge I. O. of G. T., are making preparations to observe the anniversary of the Fourth by a grand Temperance picnic, in which all the Sabbath Schools, and the citizens generally have been invited to participate. It is intended to make the affair interesting by speeches appropriate to the day and occasion, by toasts, etc. It will be largely attended.

Since the above is in type we have received a card inviting "all the friends of Temperance and moral reform to participate," with the addition to the programme of vocal and instrumental music and refreshments, signed by

GRATUITOUS SUGGESTIONS.—Where there a large family we would most respectfully suggest the propriety of not sending over one half of them to the Post office for a letter at the same time, especially as all know that the room in which mail matter is distributed, here is a very small one. Another hint: When you do receive a letter or a paper, pass out of the distributing room as quick as possible and do not show your want of appreciating the convenience of others by halting right in the door, opening your letter, and standing there, blockading the way all the while—until you have read it through, and digested its contents. None but unmannerly people do this, but it is done nevertheless quite frequently in the Post office in Waynesburg Pa.

Norwood; or, Village life in New England; by Henry Ward Beecher.

This story originally written for the Ledger, has been published in book form, by the well known firm of Charles Scribner & Co., 654 Broadway, New York. The book contains nearly six hundred pages, in cloth binding, and will be sent post paid for $1,50 to any address. Its merits are unquestioned, as Mr. Beecher never puts in print anything but good. His picture of New England life is vivid as life, characters and sentiment are evenly drawn and the wit and wisdom intermingled furnishes a never failing source of interest. Mr. Beecher draws largely from Nature and his wonderful power of description added to a keen insight and love for natural objects, makes the work very instructive as well as amusing. It should be in every family circle where there is a taste for fact and fancy interwoven for good.

MOORE'S LIFE OF HON. SCHUYLER COLFAX.—T. B. Paterson & Bro., No. 306 Chestnut St, Philadelphia, have in Press and will publish in a few days, "The Life of Hon. Schuyler Colfax," written by Rev. A. Y. Moore, of South Bend, Indiana, who was for twelve years as pastor and friend, in the entire confidence of Mr. Colfax, and had access to the files of the paper published by Mr. Colfax for twelve years, and to the Congressional Globe; knows all his past history and all who have known him from boyhood. He began his biography two or three years ago, so that it is not one of the hurried and ephemeral publications so common in election years. Mr. Moore is a gentleman of fine talant and culture, and their is no doubt but that his biography of Mr. Colfax will be worthy of its distinguished subject.

The following letter from Mr. Colfax, to Rev. A. Y. Moore will explain itself:

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 30, 1867.

"My dear Mr. Moore:—As your prediction of a year ago has been realized, I have no further objection to your publishing any sketch more or less full, of my life, you may have prepared. As you was for a dozen years a fellow townsman of mine, and a valued friend I suppose you know as much about my history as the public would care about knowing; and although my engrossing duties here leave me no time to revise the manuscript, I have no fear that your work will not be a faithful one." Yours, very truly,

SCHUYLER COLFAX.

Rev. A. Y. Moore, South Bend, Indiana.

It will be published, in a large duodecimo volume of five hundred pages, printed from large type, and on the finest and best of white paper, with a portrait, on steel, of Mr. Colfax executed by one of the first artists in the country, from photographs taken from Mr. Colfax within the last week; the whole bound in cloth in the most substantial manner. Price $1,50 a copy. Canvassers wanted everywhere. Large discounts given. Copies will be sent to any one at once, post paid, on receipt of price, by the publishers.

WEST VIRGINIA.—It will soon be a year since they have had a death in Morgantown. It is hard telling whether it is owing to the salubrity of the climate or the disgust of the devil.

Whooping cough is prevalent in Morgantown, as yet without serious results.

The Clarksburg Telegraph in a lengthy article, warmly advocates the election of Gen. T. M. Harris as United States Senator, to succeed Mr. Van Winkle.

Moses B. Harter, of Monongalia county, writes us that he sheared his Vermont Buck purchased at the Carmichaels Fair last fall, and the fleece weighed twenty pounds heavy weight. This is ahead, by one-half pound, of anything in this "diggin's."

Peter J. Weaver killed a rattlesnake, on Monday last, upon the farm of Mr. J. H. Hoffman, near Morgantown, that measured four and a half feet in length, and was supplied with seventeen rattles.

Governor Boreman of West Virginia offers one hundred dollars reward for the arrest and delivery to the authorities of Taylor county, West Virginia, of Richard Clever, for the murder of Harmon Hesser, on the 28th day of May. Clever is about five feet eight inches high, sparely built, long chin, brown hair, whiskers and mustache—thin on his face and lighter than hair—eyes blue and sunken, complexion fair. He is supposed to be somewhere in Pennsylvania, as he has friends and relatives in this State.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.—Hon Geo. V. Lawrence has announced himself as a candidate for Congressional honors. The Reporter thinks "Mr. Lawrence will received the hearty support of this county for the nomination." But that won't elect Mr. Lawrence in the District.

The Democracy have put the following ticket in the field: Congress, Col. Wm. Hopkins; Assembly, R. M'Kinley, of West Brownsville, and Alfred Creigh of Washington; District Attorney, Ianthus Bentley of Monongahela City; Commissioner, James Kerr; of Carroll Auditor, A. E. Walker, Cross Creek; Director of the Poor, J. M. Day of Morris.

The editor of the Monongahela Republican Mr. Chill Hazzard, recently expressed himself very much disgusted at the course of seven Senators on Impeachment, alleging that the people were outraged and betrayed by their action. For this he was removed from the position of Postmaster of Monongahela City, a place he has long and satisfactorily filled. Of course he is honored for sacrificing place for principle.

Copperheads are preparing to desecrate the memories of the coming aniversary of the Fourth by holding a picnic in a grove near Washington.

For a soul so honest and true."

If they had been wise, the dire necessity of opening the grave for one so lovely night have been averted. Plantation Bitters if timely used, are sure to rescue the young and lovely, the middle-aged, and the ailing, from confirmed sickness.

Almost all diseases have their begining in some slight difficulty of the Stomach, which would eventuate in Dyspepsia, Headache, Liver Complaints, Night Sweats, Consumption Death. Plantation Bitters will prevent these premonitory symptoms, and keep the blood pure and the health good.

While they invigorate the system they enliven the mind.

FOR THE SUMMER SEASON.—Guiher has fifteen hundred hats for ladies and gents, all of the latest styles. His straw goods cannot be surpassed.

THE time of the completion of the Baptist College at Jefferson is not known, but that Fordyce's sell the best goods at the lowest price is a fact generally admitted.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, June 20, 1868.

During the past week there has been a general lasitude. As to commercial values there have been no very radical changes during the week. This depression is mainly due to the restricted demand, and to the excellent crop prospects, which latter give premonition of a decline in the prices of food. Breadstuffs have been very heavy, and the tendency of prices is unmistakably for a lower range at no distant day. Speculation may keep up prices for a few weeks but should the crops mature well flour will be lower than it has been for several years. For provisions there is a moderate inquiry.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale prices:

PENNA. CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

PITTSBURGH, June 18, 1868.

CATTLE—The market furnished only a limited number of transactions, although the offerings were larger. The usual buyers evidently have no faith in the present prices, hence their purchases were governed accordingly. Prices ranged from $5 20 to $9 20.

SHEEP—The market was a pretty active one; the sales being among the largest we have reported for some weeks. The rates however were precisely the same as last week. Of the number sold, 75% were sold by the head, at prices ranging from $1 to $2 85 ₱ head.

HOGS—There was a falling off in the demand, with a corresponding decline in prices. Buyers took hold very sparingly. The heavy shipments East have glutted and depressed the market, although the prices of good smooth hogs suitable for shipment held their own exceedingly well.

Markets.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Trade more active and the market decidedly firmer for all fine brown and bleached muslins. Certain styles of heavy brown sheetings are also firmer. Stark A. for instance, which sold as low as 14½c by the package, are now firm at 16½c. These goods must advance. All light styles of prints are being closed out low, but dark colors are held firmly at 13½c.

WOOL.

Holders of the finer old clip Wools are ready to sell in anticipation of the early appearance of the new, and this feeling has made prices easy and led to some transactions; but the market for Fleeces, generally, is quiet. Some small lots of new clip have already come in, but it is alleged that the whole receipt will be later than usual, having been affected, like everything else, by a lingering winter.

A STANDARD WORK.

A DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE, Comprising its Antiquities, Biography, Geography and Natural History, with numerous Illustrations and Maps. Edited by William Smith, LL. D. Published by Messrs. J. B. Burr & Co., Hartford, Ct.

This work is a timely response to a widespread and urgent necessity of all Bible readers. Being the only American Edition of the only abridgment by the author's own hand of his voluminous Dictionary, which is too costly for the common purse—it is at once the only perfectly reliable and practical one, containing all that the general reader and student can wish. The publishers have in this given the public a volume of which they may well be proud. It is a standard work, commends itself to all who examine it, and should be found in every family. Be careful to get this edition, if you would have the most reliable Dictionary at the most reasonable price. It is sold by subscription only. Agents should address the publishers at once.

640 MILES

OF THE

RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. Sixty miles of the track have been laid this spring, and the work along the whole line between the Atlantic and Pacific States is being pushed forward more rapidly than ever before. More than twenty thousand men are employed, and it is not impossible that the entire track, from Omaha to Sacramento, will be finished in 1869 instead of 1870. The means provided are ample, and all that energy, men and money can do to secure the completion of this

at the earliest possible day, will be done.

The UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY receive:

I.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations.

II.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of 12,000 acre of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road. This is an absolute donation, and will be a source of large revenue in the future.

III.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections to be built. The Government takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, &c. The interest is now more than paid in this way, besides securing a great saving in time and money to the Government.

IV.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to aid in building the road, to the same amount as the U. S. Bonds, issued for the same purpose, and NO MORE. THE GOVERNMENT PERMITS the Trustees for the First Mortgage Bondholders to deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the road is completed, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class Railroad, laid with a heavy Trail, and completely supplied with depots, stations, turnouts, car-shops, locomottives, cars, &c.

V.—A CAPITAL STOCK SUBSCRIPTION from the stockholders, of which OVER EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in upon the work already done, and which will be increased as the wants of the Company require.

VI.—NET CASH EARNINGS on its Way Business, that already amount to MORE THAN THE INTEREST on the First Mortgage Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through traffic that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove the

upon such property, costing nearly three times their amount,

ARE SECURE BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY.

The Union Pacific Bonds are for $1,000 each and have coupons attached. They have thirty years to run, and bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July at the Company's Office in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. The price is 102, and at the present rate of gold, these bonds pay a liberal income on their cost.

The Company believe that these Bonds, at the present rate are the cheapest security in the market, and reserve to themselves the right to advance the price at any time.

Parties subscribing will remit the par value of the bonds and the accrued interest in currency at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the date on which the last coupon was paid. Subscriptions will be received in Waynesburg, Pa., BY THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

In New York

AT THE COMPANY'S OFFICE, 20 Nassau St. and by

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, 59 Wall St.

And by the Company's Advertising Agents throughout the United States.

Remittences should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP for 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the progress of the work, the resources of the country traversed by the Road, the means for construction, and the value of the bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices or to any of the advertised agents.

JOHN J. CISCO, Treasurer, New York.

The Machine in question is simple, compact, durable and beautiful. It is quiet, light running and capable of performing a range and variety of work never before attempted upon a single Machine—using either Silk, Twist, Linen or Cotton Thread, and sewing with equal facility the very finest and coarsest materials, and anything between the two extremes, in the most beautiful and substantial manner. Its attachments for Hemming, Braiding, Cording, Tucking, Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are Novel and Practical, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.

New designs of the unique, useful and popular folding tops and cabinet cases peculiar to the Machines manufactured by this Company have been prepared for enclosing the new Machines. These are gotten up in every variety of wood, such as Black Walnut, Mahogany, Rosewood, and the like, and from the plainest to the most elaborate pattern and finish—the Machines themselves being more or less highly ornamented, to correspond with the Tables or Cabinets for which they are intended.

A few reasons why SINGER'S latest improved SEWING MACHINES are the best for Family and General Purposes.

The Waynesburg Republican.

A TALE OF THE TROPICS.

We have read nothing in a long time more touching than the following. Reader get out your pocket handkerchief:

Titti-Fal-Lay was a lovely maid—
The white of her eye was like marmalade;
Her skin was the blackest of inky blacks,
And her lips were as scarlet as sealing wax.

She wore her hair in a fuzz-a-top,
Like a swab (the nautical term for a mop;)
Her ivory teeth were two gleaming rows,
And she carried a skewer in her comely nose.

She loved a sailor (did Titti-Fal-Lay)
Who had been on that island cast away.
Titti-Fal-Lay was the child of a king,
But she loved Jack Deadeyes like anything.

She loved Jack Deadeyes: but—woe is me!—
Jack Deadeyes, he wasn't in love with she;
For he fondly thought of his lovely Nan
(Who lived at Wapping,) did that young man.

And so, alas! and alack-a-day!
When an English ship sailed into the bay,
(The Lively Betty, a seventy-four,)
He took a berth in that man-of-war!

Then Titti-Fal-Lay (her heart was broke)
Wept—but never a word she spoke;
But she skewer'd herself, did the mournful maid
On the native weapon, a sword fish blade.

They buried her under the Bo-bo tree,
With her favorite kitten along o' she;
And the purple-nosed monkeys sadly rave,
And chew their tails o'er the maiden's grave.

GRANT'S ELOQUENT GRATITUDE.

The magnificent order of General Grant to his troops, after their great triumphs at Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge, is the most eloquent of all his military writings We reprint it, not only that he may not be forgotten, but that the loyal people of the South may understand how they will be cared for when he is elected to the presidency, in despite of the of the same traitors who have been restored by Andrew Johnson to rights which they shamefully abused:

HEADQUARTERS MILITARY DIVISION, OF THE MISSISIPPI, IN THE FIELD, CHATTANOOGA, TENN. December 10, 1863.

The General commanding takes this opportunity of returning his sincere thanks and congratulation to the brave armies of the Cumberland, the Ohio, the Tennesse and their comrades from the Potomac, for the recent splendid and decisive success achieved over the enemy. In a short time you have recovered from him the control of the Tennessee river from Bridgport to Knoxville. You dislodged him from his great stronghold upon Lookout Mountain drove him from Chattanooga Valley wrested from his determined grasp the possession of Missionary Ridge, repelled with heavy loss to him his repeated assaults upon Knoxville, forcing him to raise the siege there, driving him at all points, utterly routed and discomfited, beyond the limits of the State. By your noble heroism and determined courage, you have most effectually defeated the plans of the enemy for gaining possession of the States of Kentucky and Tennessee

You have secured positions from which no rebellious power can drive or dislodge you. For all this the General commanding thanks you collectively and individually The loyal people of the United States thank and bless you. Their hopes and prayers for your success against this unholy rebellion are with you daily. Their faith in you will not be in vain. Their hopes will not be blasted. Their prayers to Almighty God will be answered. You will go to other fields of strife; and with the invincible bravery and unflinching loyalty to justice and right which have characterized you in the past, you will prove that no enemy can withstand you, and that no defenses, however formidable, can check your onward march. By order of

U. S. GRANT, Major Gen.

TRIBUTE TO DOUGLAS.

Horace Greeley, in his last paper to the N. Y. Ledger, speaks thus of Mr. D.:

Mr. Douglas was the readiest man I ever knew. He was not a hard student; if he had been, it would have been difficult to set limits to his power. I have seen him rise in the Senate quite at fault with regard to essential facts in controversy, and thus to make damaging blunders in debate; but he really caught at and profited by any suggestion thrown out by friend or foe; and he was never excelled in off-hand discussion; so that, even if worsted in its first stages, he was apt to regain his lost ground as he went on. Once as I sat with the senior Francis P. Blair and one or two others outside the bar of the Senate in 1856, he made us the text of an amusing dissertation on the piebald, ringstreaked and speckled materials whereof the new Republican party was composed; and, passing us soon afterward, he hailed me familiarly with the interrogation. "Did'nt I give you a good turn just now?" At a later day when the Lecompton struggle was in progress, a mutual friend, remembering that my strictures on him in former years had been of a very caustic sort, inquired of him whether he had any objections, on their account, to meeting me on a friendly footing. "Certainly not," was his instant response; "I always pay that sort of debts as I go along." Our country has often been called to mourn severe, untimely losses; yet I deem the death of Stephen A. Douglas, just at the outbreak of our great civil war, and when he had thrown his whole soul into the cause of the country, one of the most grievous and irreparable.

GREEN RIVER CITY.

The Cheyenne Argus of the 10th says: A new city has been laid out on Green river, and as a result of a "little on-pleasantness" a new cemetery has been commenced by two graves near the same place. Of the new city and its surrroundings, the Sweetwater Mines of the 3rd says.

The city of Green River is laid out about a mile above the stage crossing, where the railroad will cross Green river; a city company has been formed with H. M. Hook, Esq., formerly Mayor of Cheyenne, and now one of its leading business men, as President, and Frank B. Gilbert Esq., formerly of the firm of Gilbert & Son's, Salt Lake City, as Secretary. The greater number of share-holders in company are railroad, stage men, &c.—men who have been long looking forward to this point as one where the Territories of Utah, Idaho and Montana would have to look for their supplies the coming season. Heavy grading will have to be done near the city, at an estimated cost of $400,000. The town site is said to be very pleasantly situated, and right in this vicinity some of the heaviest grading will have to be done, and some of the deepest cuts will have to be made, on the whole route. There are three gangs comprising about four hundred men, now at work on the road, at and near the city, and some hundreds are engaged in getting out lumber, ties and building material. The timber for forty miles up the river, is claimed by right of pre-emption.

Miscellaneous Items.

MARRYING a woman for her beauty, is like eating a nightingale for its singing.

"HAVE you read my last speech?" asked a vain orator to a friend.

"I hope so," was the reply.

A PROMINENT journalist in New York, who is perfectly bald has offered a reward of one thousand dollars for a tale that will make his hair stand on end.

"COME, husband," said the wife of a note-shaving, Wall-street shark, "it is time for us to get up; the day is breaking." "Well, let it break; I don't hold any of its paper."

WHEN you pass a door after 9 o'clock at night, and see a young man and young woman within, and hear a smack, you may bet your bottom dollar the young man don't live there!

A POPULAR clergyman, who was sadly annoyed by incessant coughing among his congregation, paused, in his discourse, and remarked that "if ladies would wear their bonnets on their heads and tie the strings, coughs would not be prevalent."

MOST every man will concede that it looks very foolish tu see a boy drag a hevvy sled up a steep hill fur the fleetin' pleshus uv ridin' down again, but appears tu me that boy iz a sage bi the side uv the young man hoo works hard all week and drinx hiz stamps up Saterda night.

MR. R. G. HAZARD, who was a delegate to the Chicago Convention, writes from Iowa, on his way westward, as follows: "In my journey I find that our action at Chicago has made prominent another General, who seems now to be almost as much in the hearts and on the tongues of the people as General Grant himself. As you have no doubt heard of him, I need hardly say I allude to General Satisfaction.

A SEA captain trading regularly on the African coast, was invited to meet a committee of a society for the evangilization of Africa. Among numerous questions touching the habits and religion of the African people, he was asked:

"Do the subjects of the King of Dahomey keep Sunday?"

"Keep Sunday?" he replied; "yes, and every other darned thing they can lay their hands on."

HONOR YOUR BUSINESS.

We commend this paragraph, from the the London Economist, to all who have a "vocation:"

It is a good sign when a man is proud of his work or his calling. Yet nothing is more common than to hear him finding fault constantly with their particular business, and deeming themselves unfortunate because fastened to it by the necessity or gaining a livlihood. In this spirit men fret, and laboriously destroy all their comfort in the work; or they change their business, and go on miserably shifting from one thing to another, till the grave of the poor-house gives them a fast grip.

But while, occasionally a man fails in life because he is not in the place fitted to his peculiar talent, it happens ten times oftener that failures results from neglect and even contempt of an honest business. A man should put his heart into everything that he does. There is not a profession that has not its peculiar cares and vexations. No man will escape annoyance by changing business. No mechanical business is altogether agreeable. Commerce in its endless varieties, is affected like all other human pursuits, with trials unwelcome duties, and spirit-tiring necessities. It is the wantonness of folly for a man to search out the frets and burdens of his calling, and give his mind every day to a consideration of them. They belong to human life. They are inevitable. Brooding over them only gives them strength. On the other hand, a man has power given to him to shed beauty and pleasure upon the homeliest toil, if he is wise. Let a man adopt his business and identify it with his life, and cover it with pleasant association; for God has given us imitation not alone to make some poets, but to enable all men to beautify homely things. Heart varnish will cover up innumerable evils and defects. Look at the good things. Accept your lot as a man does a peice of rugged ground, and begin to get out the rocks and roots, to deepen and mellow the soil, to enrich and plant it. There is something in the most forbidding avocation around which a man may twine pleasant fancies, out of which he may develop an honest pride.

GENERAL GRANT ON HIS MUSCLE.

While at West Point, Grant was "run on" by the older scholars according to the custom of that institution. He endured a good deal without resentment, until one day, being on mock parade, he was insulted by the Captain of the company, when he stepped from the ranks, threw off his coat, an I challenged the Captain to fight. Abbott tells the story as follows:

Such a challenge could not be declined, all the company looked eagerly on; the Captain soon succumbed beneath the sturdy and swift falling blows of Grant, and cried for quarter. He had been very soundly whipped before his pride would permit him to yield.

The young champion not at all fatigued and showing no excitement over his victory, turned to the Lieutenant, and said very blandly to him:

"It is now, Lieutenant your turn. Perhaps you would like to try to revenge the Captain. I shall be happy to meet you."

The Lieutenant, who had taken an active part in the insolent joke upon the young cadet, could not in honor refuse. To have shown a coward's discretion would have exposed him to the endless jeers of his comrades. Grant made short work with him, and gave him a thorough thrashing.

He then with apparently as much composure as if he had been attending to ordinary duties, turned to his companions in line and said:

"Who comes next? I want peace, but I am willing to fight the whole company, one by one, if that is necessary to gain peace."

His comrades now greeted him with three enthusiastic cheers. They came forward tumultuously, and shook him by the hand, declaring that one possessing so much pluck should no longer be subject to their annoyance. It was in reference to this offer to fight the whole company that he received the nickname of "Company Grant." This name he retained until, on a memorable occasion, he changed it for "Unconditional Surrender Grant!"
